THE BORE.

Again I hear the creaking step!
He's rapping at the door,
Too well I know the boding sound
That ushers in the bore.
I do not tremble when I meet
The stoutest of my foes,
But heaven defend me from the friend
Who comes but never goes.

He drops into my easy chair,
And asks about the news,
He peers into my manuscript,
And gives his candid views;
He tells me where he likes the line,
And where he's forced to grieve;
He takes the strangest liberties—
But never takes his leave.

He tells me of the carping words
Some shallow critic wrote,
And every precious paragraph
Familiarly can quote.
He thinks the writer did me wrong,
He'd like to run him through!
He says a thousand pleasant things—
But never says "Adieu."

—[JOHN G. SAXE.

SUNDRIES.

A few days since a very pretty young married woman, during a dinner-table discussion on Churchmanship, opened the eyes of the company and demolished her husband by expressing, as her opinion, that "the only difference between the Ritualists and the Romanists was in the fact that the latter burned insects."

A John Bull who had been introduced to the emperor of Russia, kept pacing a steamer's dock, exclaiming, "The Czar is great! The Czar is great!" "Yes," said a bystander, "but God is greater." "Oh, to be sure," was Bull's reply; "but then, you know the Czar is young yet."

When the tower of the church of Carmes was struck by lightning, Father Andre said, "God has been very merciful to these good fathers of Carmes in not sacrificing to his justice any thing else than their bell-tower. If the lightning had struck the kitchen, the chances are every one of them would have been killed!"

A ship at sea sprung a leak. The hole in its bottom was just one foot square. There was but one board on the ship—this was sixteen inches long and nine inches wide. It had precisely the requisite number of square inches, and the carpenter cut it in two pieces only, and these two pieces just fitted the hole. How did he do it?

"Are you going after that sugar?" called a mother to her boy, who was in the street. "Am I going after that sugar?" drawled the youth in a saucy and impudent tone; but just then he happened to see his father coming up behind him, and he said very respectfully and lovingly, "Why of course I am, ma—I didn't know you needed it right away."

Boston vaunts its intellectual superiority in that a conductor of one of its street-cars is a "graduate of a first-class college," but he is no more accurate in counting the whalebones in a lady's corset when lifting her into a car with his knuckles than some conductors on the same line who spell Jerusalem with a little "g."—[Chicago Post and Mail.

While the ladies of Oneida were working at the polls for the election of board of excise, one of them received the following note: "My dear wife: I have washed the baby, put her to bed and stirred up the pancakes. What shall I do next? Your loving husband,——." Such a man is handy to have in any family.

A Bakersfield man dropped into the post-office and wanted to know how much merchandise he could send in one parcel. "Four pounds," was the reply. Then he blandly said he thought he would send out to Arizona four pounds of those red toy balloons, inflated; but he had difficulty in getting out of the door in time to dodge a mail-bag.—Alta California.

A conductor on the Union Pacific Railroad put a "dead beat" off his train politely once; kicked him off three times; then, finding the impecunious in the car again, inquired; "Where in blazes are you going, anyway?" "Well," said the not-to-be-got-rid-of, "I'm going to Chicago if my pants hold out, but if I'm going to be kicked every five minutes I don't believe I'll make the trip." The conductor let him ride a little way.

St. Louis Globe—Solomon Johnson, the Market street barber, was explaining the Spanish situation to an African who was not posted in European politics. "If Alfonso abdicates," remarked Solomon "Hab Dick Yates?" exclaimed the other; "what he hab Dick Yates fo'? Ole Abraham's had him tucked away in his bosom dis ebber so long." Solomon is now an advocate of compulsory education.

Maud, (with much sympathy in her voice). "Only fancy, Mamma, Uncle Jack took us to a picture gallery in Bond street, and there we saw a picture of a lot of early Christians, poor dears, who'd been thrown to a lot of lions and tigers, and were devouring them!"
(Ethel, with still more sympathy). "Yes, and Mamma dear, there was one poor tiger that hadn't got a Christian!"

An old lady in Lockport recently achieved eminence by carrying a quart of popped corn to a donation party, and eating two dozen fried oysters, a pound of crackers, three slices of fruit cake, half a mince pie, and some apples, after which she was threatened with a "spasm" and in the effort to prevent it, she sacrificed all the wine there was in the house. She attends donations regularly and does a good deal for the church in that way.

"Five cents fare for that child, madam," said a street car conductor yesterday as he opened the door and put his head in. "Very well," she replied, feeling in her pocket; "this is an orphan child and I'm its guardian. I must have a receipt for all moneys paid out, and as soon as you write one I'll drop a nickel in the box." He shut the door and leaned over the brake like a man in deep thought.—[Detroit Free Press.

The girls attending a seminary in Illinois set two chickens fighting in their room last Sunday. Bets on the result ran high, and at the conclusion of the contest the winning maiden was "better" by a gold watch, a pair of silk stockings, a French corset, two rolls of false hair, a patent bustle, and a beautiful book mark with "Christ our Guide" worked on it in colored silk.

"No, grandmamma, it's all of no use! I love him, I've loved him for years, and he loves me, and they may part us, and it may kill me; but I'll never care for anybody else, and I'll think of nothing in the world but him, morning, noon and night, until I die!" "Poor darling! Now, take my advice. Come and spend a few weeks alone with me at Little Peddlington, and lead a quiet life, you know, and look after the geese and the poultry, and all that, and you'll soon forget him."

Fulton Times—A Fulton young man who was visiting abroad came home Saturday, and in the morning at breakfast remarked, as he reached his plate over, "Father, a little of the mixture in the brown dish, if you please, and a small piece of the prepared meat." The old gentleman who is a plain, matter-of-fact man, replied, as he loaded up the out-stretched plate. "We like to have you come a visitin' us, John, but just remember that while you're callin' here, if you want hash, say so; and if you want sassage, call for sassage, and not go to sprendin' on any Brooklyn misery at my table."

Yesterday was indeed an eventful day in the life of a lady on West Jackson street. During a trip on the street cars to State street and back, she saw the loveliest polonaise pattern she ever saw in her life, the handsomest man she ever saw in her life, the homeliest woman she ever saw in her life, got the worst fright she ever had in her life from the drunkest man she ever saw in her life, never was so insulted in her life as she was by a young man who spoke to her on the car, and finally got home feeling more tired than she ever felt in her life.—[Chicago Tribune.

A Detroit man, residing on Eighth street, says that if the proverb is true that "the best statesmanship is self government," he is a true statesman. "Why," said he, "when my wife drove me under the bed with the poker the other day, my self control was so great that I never said a word nor moved out of there till she was gone into the kitchen. Now, some men would have got mad and refused to go under the bed at all, or else swore violently after they got there."—[Detroit News.

The Honolulu Gazette makes the statement that the Honolulu Superintendent of Public Works is now preparing material for a monument to Captain Cook. The monument will be a square obelisk twenty four feet in height and four feet across the base. On the pedestal will be engraved a "suitable inscription." There is something very funny in the idea that the islanders are thus about to perpetuate in stone the memory of a man their grandfathers ate. As for the "suitable inscription" which is proposed, it is difficult to imagine what it will be, though they might appropriately say: "Hic jacet Captain James Cook; ætat—a grand banquet!"—[Washington Chronicle.

CIRCUS MUSIC IN CHURCH.—There are a great many Edwards, large and small, whose personal experience is dittoed by little Eddie R——, of Albion, New York, of whom the following is sent to the Drawer:

He had lately attended a circus for the first time, and on the Sunday following was taken by his grandmother to church. Eddie gazed around in some wonderment for a few moments. When the organist began to play, he turned to his grandmother and said in a whisper,

"Grandma, will there be a circus, so I can see the lion?"

"Why, no, Eddie, this is church."

"Well," replied the little man, "it's circus music any way."

Doubtless. There's a good deal of it in the sanctuary.—[Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine for April.

THURSDAY, APRIL 22, 1875.

THE DAY.

Mr. Beecher has stepped down and out of the witness chair.

Doesn't it border on impertinent to invite Englishmen to join with us in celebrating Lexington and Concord?

The average weight of men's brains is 1389 grammes, and the average weight of women's is only 1249 grammes, and yet women think they ought to vote!

The election yesterday was more decisive than had been expected. We shall not be treated to an adjourned election. After having served the city two years Mayor Slocum has been re-elected by a handsome majority over two competitors. Gen. Burdick has the consolation of knowing that he carried his own ward to a remarkable extent. Those who knew him the most gave him the most votes. The council elections give general satisfaction, though regret is felt at Mr. Bull's defeat. He was the only member of the present city council who sought a re-election and did not receive it. Messrs. Butler, Crandall, Cozzens, Burdick and Davis were elected members of the school committee, and the taxpayers voted by a majority of more than two to one to buy Gravelly point as a wharf site.

PERSONALS.

......The Ex-Confederate General J. B. Hood, who lost the battle of Nashville, has just begun farming in Minnesota.

......At a spelling match in Huntingdon, Pa., the other evening, Ex-Senator Scott was unable to spell "phthisic," and Ex-Representatives Blair and Speer failed on the word "chrysolite."

......The sum of $1,590 has been raised in Monument to Samuel Seabury, first bishop of the Episcopal church in America, who was once a resident of that place.

......President Grant has refused to attend the Mechlenberg (N. C.) centennial celebration on May 20th. His note of declination is somewhat curt, and the Atlanta News says "has produced a feeling of indignation throughout the state."

......Ex-Chief Justice Bigelow, of the Massachusetts supreme court, and Judges Foster and Thomas, two of the most eminent ex-members of the same bench, urge the commutation of the sentence of the boy murderer Jesse Pomeroy.

......Daniel Webster's large and valuable miscellaneous library is soon to be sold at auction in Boston. It has remained hitherto in the room of his country house in Marshfield, which he built for its reception—a Gothic room, with many alcoves, and with a window over the fire place.

......During his stay at Little Rock, Ark., a few days ago, Ex-Governor English, of Connecticut, called upon Governor Garland and expressed himself as greatly pleased both with the temper manifested by the Southern people and their material progress since the close of the war.

......A copy of the resolution passed by the Massachusetts legislature, rescinding the "battle-flag" resolution, was found in Mr. Sumner's desk in the Senate chamber soon after his death, and has been forwarded, with a letter of Ex-Senator Washburn, to the state librarian at Massachusetts.

......Even his own political sympathizers at the South seem to be recognising that Pinchback has become too "protracted" an annoyance. At a lecture which he was recently widely advertised to deliver at Mobile, Ala., on the subject of "The Colored Race as a Political Element in the Republic," his audience was so small that he dismissed his hearers after delivering only part of his discourse.

......Mr. Homer Griffin, of Lodi, Medina county, Ohio, is a centenarian whose age is alleged to be well authenticated. He is one hundred and fourteen years old, works in his garden, chops wood with one hand (having lost an arm by the falling of a tree forty years ago), and shaves himself. He has never used tobacco in any form, but has been an habitual drinker for a century. His first vote for President he cast for John Adams, and in later years he has voted the Republican ticket.

......The transfer of the recumbent statue of General Robert E. Lee from Richmond to his grave at Lexington, Va., has been attended with ceremonies that show strikingly the affection with which his memory is cherished among Virginians. At Richmond a regiment of troops and several civic organizations accompanied the box containing the statue to the railroad station, where it was placed in charge of ten students of the Richmond University as a guard of honor. The box itself was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens, and at every depot fresh flowers and wreaths were added by deputations of ladies. Among the committee receiving the statue at Lynchburgh was the Ex-Confederate General Jubal A. Early.

A FIELD FOR THE GREAT DEFENDANT.—Our intelligent correspondent proposes that, as the art of kissing appears to be entirely unknown to the Chinese, missionaries should be sent from this country to give them the proper instruction. He wishes to export the Rev. Mr. Beecher as the champion kisser of the United States. Paroxysmal, paternal, sisterly, reconciliatory and inspirational kisses appear to be as familiar to Mr. Beecher as household words. The honorable defendant, according to his own account, has done a great deal of kissing. He has kissed Mrs. Tilton (sisterly,) Mrs. Moulton (inspirationally,) Mr. Moulton (experimentally,) Mr. Oliver Johnson (unwillingly,) Sam Wilkeson (unfavorably,) Mr. Evarts (professionally), Mr. Shearman (indignantly), Bessie Turner (fatherly) and Theodore Tilton (reconciliatory). After this extraordinary experience in osculatory performance Mr. Beecher should be fully qualified to teach the barbarians all that they are ignorant of in the delicate art. Brooklyn might probably miss him, but Pekin would be the gainer. If he should after the trial, consent to go to China in the capacity of a Plymouth missionary he might conjugate the verb "to kiss" with greater success than he has done at home. The conjugation "I kiss Tilton, thou kisseth Tilton, he kisses Johnson, Johnson kisseth us, Wilkeson kisseth Bowen, Bowen kisseth Beecher," might have wider application in the experience of Oriental climates. But as Mr. Beecher has kissed almost everybody in Brooklyn it would be a pity if he should go to the home of the Brother of the Sun and Moon and leave the unkissed Mrs. Morse out of the category.—[New York Herald.

MARK TWAIN ON NEVADA.

SANGUINARY CARSON CITY.—A DISCUSSION WITH REVOLVERS.—MARK'S DUEL WITH MR. LORD, AND HIS OPINION ON DUELLING IN GENERAL.

Carson City was a unique place. There were thieves, lawyers and blacklegs, highwaymen and clergymen. One day I was walking along with a clergyman and judge, and we met the most noted desperado in Nevada, Jack Harris. Of course I had to be introduced. After the introduction Harris rode away to a barn near by, where a man named Julian was mending a whip. He never spoke to him, but drew out his revolver and began making a few remarks with it. Julian got up, also drew a revolver and began to reply to what Harris had to say. Pretty soon Harris came riding back, two or three crimson spots showing where he had been particularly struck with Julian's remarks. He was looking for a doctor or an undertaker. The two go together pretty well. Well, the country was so healing that in a few days he was as well as ever he had been. But it made a changed man of him. He threw away his revolver and bowie knife, and ever afterwards depended on a double-barrel shot gun. The only thing Julian had done against Harris was to testify against him in court, and he took his way to settle with him. Carson City was a crimson place. Murder was an every day occurrence, but no one was ever punished. How could a jury be expected to convict a murderer when five-sixths of them deserve hanging as much as the man they were trying?

Virginia City was also a bloodthirsty place and the first twenty men planted in its first burying ground were murdered. Dueling here was a pastime. The man who fought a duel was more respected than if he had murdered two men. I have a tale to tell you about duelling which has a moral in it. People who pay a dollar for a lecture ticket have a right to something with a moral in it. For two years I was city editor of a newspaper in Virginia City. I was then promoted to be editor. I lasted a week, but I made an uncommonly lively sheet of it while I lasted. I brought on a quarrel with the editor of an opposing paper. I suppose I called him a thief or a body snatcher. It was customary for the man who offered the insult to make the challenge. So I challenged the editor whom I had quarrelled with. I will call him Mr. Lord. My party was anxious for me to fight. I knew Lord wouldn't and so I sent the challenge. Shortly after I re[illegible] me. This disgusted the boys and exasperated them, but I was calm. I am always calm. I sent another challenge, and another, and another. Lord began to grow bolder, and at last accepted. I was mortified, but began to practice. I went out to the barn, set up a rail against the barn door, first putting a squash on the end of it. This was to represent Mr. Lord. In regard to intellect, the changes between Lord and the squash were in favor of the latter. I began to practice, first at the rail, then at the squash, and at last settled on hitting the barn door, but missed all three. My friends were with me, but after I had shot away awhile, we heard Lord's party practicing on the other side of the barn. It looked bad, for if they should find out what I had been doing there wasn't any sight for me. But just at that juncture a small bird flew by, and my second, who was a major and was a beautiful shot, fired at him, cutting away his head as clean as a knife would have done. He picked up the bird, and Lord's second came running up to see how the thing had been done. Says he, "that's a fine shot. How far was he when he fired?" About thirty paces, the major answered. The second's face was picturesque at this. It was rich to see him grow sick—to get blue under the gills. Does he do that often? the fellow next inquired. Well, said my second, about four times out of five. I knew the major was lying, but I couldn't interrupt him. Lord's second returned to his gang and took his man home. On examining it was found that Lord had hit the mark fourteen times out of seventeen, and if he had fired those fourteen shots about my system, my skin would not have held my principles. Now I think dueling a bad custom, and I want to warn all the young against it. I wouldn't fight a duel now. If a man should send me a challenge, I would take him by the hand and lead him out to a quiet place and kill him.—[Springfield Union's report of Mark Twain's lecture.

SOME DRESSES.—At the opening night of the opera the Marquise Anforti wore a miraculous dress, made of an ancient Venetian brocade. It was worthy of the wife of a doge. As people were going into ecstacies over it, she said, "And think! I got it for nothing, only 50 francs a yard." In fact, at the prices at which dresses go, one might calculate that this only cost 1,250 francs, counting 25 yards for the dress. But the marquise added, "I wanted to give one like it to one of my friends, but Worth used the whole hundred yards." And when we cried out, she said, "What could you do? At the first and at the second cut he was not inspired, but at the third he had recovered all his genius."

"After all," said a man of figures, laughingly, "the dress only cost 5,000 francs."

"Yes," said the marquise, "but you forget the making."

"Hush," said the admirer. "I don't want to hear any more."

"That is not all," she pursued, "I spent 50,000 on my journey to Venice. "I was so happy at having found this stuff so cheap that I was prodigal in everything else."

"Come, now," said the man of figures, "tell us at once that the dress cost as much as the opera."

And the finer the dresses are, the less they are worn. A woman would consider herself disgraced if it were said she had been seen twice in the same dress. The day after a ball they send the dress back to the dressmaker, telling her to make it over. The making costs more than the material. The other day a lady of fashion—of this fashion—asked me to dine. "Yes," I said, "on condition that your dressmaker does not come on that day." "You think," she said, smiling, "that the better I am dressed the worse you will dine, as it is with most women. Be of good cheer. My table is as well dressed as I am." The dinner was charming. She had invited one of her friends, asking her to come in Ash Wednesday dress. She followed instructions faithfully, and both appeared in dresses made for the occasion, which had only cost 2,000 francs each—less than nothing, as they complacently observed.—[Arsene Houssaye in the New York Tribune.

A thousand thanks to my two friends who voted for me yesterday amid the excitement of the election. Virtue will finally triumph!

E. F. NEWTON.

SIR MARMADUKE.

The operetta of Sir Marmaduke, or Too Attentive by Half, was presented at the Opera House last night by the Barnabee company to a crowded house. At the time for the performance to begin Mr. Barnabee stepped before the curtain and pointed out to the audience the difference between lightning and pleurisy in that the former never strikes twice in the same place, while the latter had struck Miss Carlo a second time, the first time involving the postponement of a month ago. Drs. Squier and Mott were attending Miss Carlo and were determined to cure her by homoeopathy or allopathy, whichever seemed to work the better, and they held out some encouragement that in a half hour she might be able to perform her part. The audience was good-natured and chatted for half an hour at the end of which time Miss Carlo was reported convalescent and the entertainment began. A great deal of credit is due to Miss Carlo for her pluck in going through her part when she was still in great pain, but she sang so charmingly and acted with so much grace and sprightliness that one who had never seen her act when well would not have supposed that she was otherwise than at her best.

Mrs. H. M. Smith has a strong and pleasant soprano voice and sang admirably. She also acted very finely. Mr. Barnabee was as funny as ever,—possibly more so. His acting was the perfection of comedy. No amount of gravity could withstand the assaults of his voice and manner. Mr. Winch is an excellent tenor, and rendered his part very well. The whole entertainment was the funniest thing that has been given in Newport for a good while, and the audience manifested their enjoyment by hearty laughter and repeated applause.

Those unfortunate persons who have been discomfited at the spelling matches may perhaps derive some consolation from the fact that two great writers of the English language, Artemus Ward and Chaucer, had a very insufficient acquaintance with orthography.

"THE OLDEST INHABITANT."—As I have mentioned the "oldest resident," I may as well say more about him, for in Paris there is very little difficulty in fixing him. It is the comte de Waldeck, now in his one hundred and eleventh year, and looking "as if destined to live to a ripe old age. He celebrated his one hundred and tenth birthday not long ago, and on hearing of it a joker in the life insurance business went to him to induce him to take out an endowment policy on his life. The count took it quite seriously, studied the matter carefully, and thought that he might try it next year. Three years ago I mentioned M. de Waldeck in connection with the project of a new theatre near the Madeleine, he having applied for the position of director, although he would be about one hundred and fifteen years of age if he lives to see the building completed. He still wants the place, as he was director of a theatre bearing the name proposed under the first republic. I saw the old man coming down the rue des Martyrs the other day, and thought him looking remarkably well. On the empress's birthday he sent her a bouquet, saying in a note that he was in the world before the founder of the Napoleonic dynasty. He was an officer under Napoleon, and was wounded at Austerlitz, if I remember rightly. During the reign of terror he was, like Sieyes, "occupied in living," no easy thing when one had the title of count, and when there was a permanent guillotine on the Place de la Concorde; but he succeeded by becoming a purveyor of public amusements. He said the other day that there was only one thing pertaining to that time that he now regretted—the costumes of the women. There is nothing, he thinks, that shows off the female form so well as the dresses worn under the directory, and one may add, or so much of it. There is no doubt about count De Waldeck's age, I am told, he having authentic documents; and the records of the army show that he must be considerably over a century.—[Paris Correspondent N. Y. Times.

A READY REPLY.—A California thief has proved himself an artist in his profession. He is a fellow of infinite expedients, and a quick wit worthy of a better cause. A policeman heard a row going on in a saloon and went in to take a hand. A man told the officer that he had been robbed of a hundred dollars—two fifty dollar bills—and pointed out the man he accused of having his money. The officer took both the accuser and the accused to the station house, and, searching the latter, found only twenty five cents in his pockets. Upon closer search two fifty dollar bills were pulled out from under the lining of the fellow's hat. The officer asked him how they came there, and the thieving wit promptly replied: "Why, the fellow that stole them bills must have swapped hats with me."

More than seventy five per cent. of the people in the United States are afflicted with these two diseases and their effect; such as sour stomach, sick headache, habitual costiveness, impure blood, heartburn, waterbrash, gnawing and burning pains at the pit of the stomach, yellow skin, coated tongue and disagreeable taste in the mouth, coming up of the food after eating, low spirits, &c. Go to the drug store of James H. Taylor and get a 75 cent bottle, or a sample bottle for ten cents. Try it.

DIED.

MITCHELL.—At the residence of her son-in-law, Capt. John Waters, Mrs. John Mitchell, aged 67 years. Remains will be taken to Boston for interment tomorrow.

Atmospheric Diseases.

The air, without which no person could live, is the source of diseases of which millions die. At this season, especially, the atmosphere is full of the germs of many kinds of sickness. Every globule of the mist and fog which cloud the earth and sky in spring holds in solution its miasmatic poison.

The evil effects of this aerial virus can only be certainly averted by increasing the vital activity of the system and securing the full and free exercise of all its natural functions, and hence it is, that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the great nerve strengthener, regulator and antidote to malaria, is imperatively required in the spring months.

It is at this time, too, that Dyspepsia assumes its most distressing types and that persons of bilious habit usually suffer most. There is an influence in the air which depresses the spirits as well as the physical energies, and in order to restore their elasticity tonic treatment is absolutely necessary.

All the world knows that the wonderful efficacy of Hostetter's Bitters in cases of indigestion, biliousness, nervous prostration and malarious fever is due to the potency of its tonic, alterative and aperient materials and the absolutely pure stimulants with which they are incorporated.

It is because the public have been taught by twenty years' experience that the article can be implicitly trusted—inasmuch as it performs uniformly and certainly all that it is advertised to do—that they prefer this sovereign tonic to every other. Hence its immense and ever-increasing sales, and hence, too, alas! the many counterfeits and imitations, against which there is no safe-guard except the close scrutiny of the purchaser.

All persons afflicted with kidney disease, pain in the back, and all urinary diseases, diabetes, gravel dropsy, nervous debility in either sex, should at once try Hunt's Remedy.

Charles Lamb, Essayist, denounced all spirituous liquors as "Wet Damnation." Poor fellow; he knew whereof he spake, by sad experience, and if living, would apply the same to Alcoholic Excitants, advertised as Cure alls. But there is one Tonic and Alterative in existence—the best the world has ever known—which contains no alcohol. It is DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. apr3 4w

☞ The appointments of the nursery are incomplete without one bottle or more of the Milk of Magnesia, to be held in reserve in case of sudden attacks of colics and diarrhoea among its infantile occupants. No other form of Magnesia is safe in such visitations. Caswell, Hazard & Co., Agents. apr1-1m

☞ The fatal diarrhea, which carries off such numbers of the infant population of cities, every summer and autumn, has its origin in the excessive secretion of acid in the stomach, stimulated by extreme atmospheric heat. Milk of Magnesia is the only remedy capable of neutralizing it and removing its morbid results. Caswell, Hazard & Co., Agents. apr1-1m

☞ To Mothers.—As the season is approaching in which the least exposure of infants to atmospheric changes induces obstinate and debilitating diarrhoeas, that the usual medicines are incapable of remedying, it behooves parents to be supplied with the Milk of Magnesia, which never fails to afford instant relief in such attacks. GENERAL NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Mr. Jewell and the Resignation of Mr. Delano.

WASHINGTON, April 21.

The President and some of the members of his party returned to Washington this afternoon. Secretary Delano will not return until tomorrow. Postmaster General Jewell arrived this morning. He states positively that the report that the President has requested Secretary Delano to resign is not true. The Postmaster-General was in the railroad car with the President and Secretary Delano when the published statement referred to was brought to their attention, and his assertion is based upon what was then said by the parties directly concerned.

Secretary Delano's Retirement as Seen by Both Sides.

The original report concerning Secretary Delano was based on the statements of several prominent members of Congress, who asserted that certain improper transactions connected with the Department of the Interior had been brought to the attention of the President, and that they were of such a character as to cause an intimation to be conveyed to Secretary Delano that his resignation would be accepted. On the other hand, it is tonight said by intimate friends of the Secretary that, before leaving the city last week to join the Presidential party, he was not aware that the President desired his resignation, but that if he had received such an intimation he would have promptly tendered it; and, further, that if any charge had been made against the Department of the Interior involving the official conduct of the Secretary, the President, from his long and intimate friendship with the Secretary, would not have acted hastily, but would have afforded him an opportunity to reply before coming to such a conclusion as to desire his resignation.

Attorney General Williams's Resignation a Certainty.

The question of the Attorney General's resignation has ceased to be a matter of rumor and is now a certainty. Before the President left the matter was settled, and Mr. Williams will probably present his formal resignation tomorrow. The understanding about the department of justice is that Edwards Pierrepont of New York is most likely to succeed Mr. Williams. The friends of the latter say he has on several occasions during two months past indicated to the President his desire to return to practise his profession, and that his retirement is altogether voluntary.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Strike of Iron Workers.

WHEELING, W., Va., April 21.

The Pittsburg boilers, having accepted fifty cents less per ton than the old wages, necessitated a similar reduction here. The boilers then demanded a reduction from their helpers, when they struck. The nail feeders have been in the habit of receiving half of what the nailer receives on each keg. They demanded three fifths and struck. The top-mill helpers and feeders struck first, without notice to the others, but last night all the mills had a meeting, with the exception of the La Belle, and determined to go into the strike.

Crop Prospects.

CINCINNATI, April 21.

The Commercial publishes the condition of the fruit and wheat crops from sixty one towns in Ohio, and thirty one in Indiana. In the former state the peach crop will prove a complete failure. Apples are slightly injured. As to wheat, twenty four towns report the crop uninjured, twenty two report half a crop, and twelve no crop. In Indiana thirteen towns report the crop uninjured, eight report half a crop, and nine report no crop. Reports from ten towns in West Pennsylvania indicate about half a crop each in fruit and wheat.

In Michigan.

A dispatch from Detroit states that reports from all parts of Michigan indicate that the drouth and cold weather have greatly injured the wheat crop, killed off the peaches and very generally seriously damaged small fruit. Apples promise a good yield. Plentiful rains may improve the wheat crop very materially.

Fire at Sea.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.

The ship Hagerstown, loading for Havre, with 5798 bales of cotton on board, was struck by lightning during a thunder storm this morning, and the cotton was set on fire. The vessel's hold was filled with water by the fire department, and the fire extinguished. The cargo, partly damaged by water, is being unshipped. It is insured in Havre.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.

A despatch from Santa Barbara reports that a large steamer is on fire, and is firing minute guns, about ten miles off shore. No particulars have yet been obtained.

Dangerous Aerostation.

ATCO, New Jersey, April 21.

News has been received here that the basket of Donaldson's balloon has been found some seven miles from here with the dead body of a man in it, and that the balloon itself was seen going seaward.

Additional Particulars of the Accident.

BERLIN, N. J., April 21,

Professor Donaldson is at Coke's Hotel, at this place, safe and sound. After leaving Philadelphia the balloon sailed in nearly a southern direction and landed at Conrad's terra-cotta works on the Williamstown Railroad, near Atco, N. J., about 5.30 P. M. The balloon became unmanageable, and no assistance being at hand Professor Donaldson was obliged to cut the basket loose in order to save it, and the main part of the balloon reascended and was lost. The upper currents of air were very cold,—so cold in fact that the mineral water taken by the aeronaut was frozen.

Righteous Retribution.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.

An unknown negro attempted to ravish Mrs. Newkirk, near Tipton. A little daughter only ten years old struck the negro on the head with a pick-axe and gave the alarm. The negro fled. A seventeen year old son followed the villain seven miles, fired four charges of bird shot into him, and finished him finally with a pistol bullet.

Ex-President Thiers.

PARIS, April 21.

The Moniteur says there is no doubt that President Thiers will be elected to the senate by many departments, and may possibly be chosen to preside over that body, in which event he is sure to hold that position for life.

Pursuit of the Escaped Cheyennes—A Collision Imminent.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.

A special from Kansas City says that it is understood that the Indians who escaped from the Cheyenne agency on the 6th instant are on the Cimmaron river, 150 miles south of Fort Dodge, in the neighborhood of their rendezvous in the beginning of the war last Summer. It is supposed they have formed a junction with one or more of the bands that remained out during the Winter, and the whole force is probably 500. They are evidently intent on fighting. All the available troops at Fort Dodge and Fort Hays have been ordered out after them, with instructions to gather them in, if it takes all Summer. Troops are also moving up from the south to engage them. The military are confident they cannot escape collision with one or other of the forces marching against them.

HESTER BROWNE.

Oh, you are charming, Hester Browne;
So do not, every time you pass
The little Psyche looking-glass,
Find some disorder in your gown!

In every ringlet of your hair,
In every dimple of your cheek,
Whene'er you smile, or smiling speak,
There lurks a cruel, charming snare.

There's not a motion of the hand
That shows a grace to lure and win,
There's not a coy, coquettish sin
That Hester does not understand.

And let her break a hundred hearts,
And mend them with a glance again;
Be sure the pleasure heals the pain
Of little Hester's cruel arts.

—[Nora Perry.

An Evening in Venice.—Charles Warren Stoddard writes to the San Francisco Chronicle, "The divine evening of Venice—tranquil, moonlit—with a shimmer of waters, a shadow-haunted labyrinth of canals walled in by white, silent palaces, half in shadow and half pallid in the moonlight. Music on the Piazza—music in the passing gondola, to the harmonies of which the gondolier instinctively keeps time with his one broad paddle—there is music in the very air; everybody seems to be humming or whistling—unless some one chances to be holding his breath to listen to the music of some one else. A troupe of untrained singers is gathered under the window of one of the grand hotels on the quay; they have drawn a large audience of idlers; even the postman who has just taken the letters from the box at the corner, slings his bag over his shoulder and pauses to catch the refrain of the singers. It is "Santo Lucia" they are chanting, but "Santo Lucia" sounds not so charming here as in Naples, the land of its nativity. The Italian street songs don't bear transplanting. I have noticed it again and again in various parts of Italy, and the songs of each city sound best from the lips of the citizens. The Venetian port songs, such as I hear nightly on the quay, are exceedingly beautiful, but I doubt if I should like them out of Venice. At the close of the 'Gondolier,' a very popular song in this latitude, while everybody is just in the mood to applaud, no one does save an Englishman in a balcony crowded with lady friends. The evening air is filled with sudden charms of voices, and a chorus ascends to that balcony which probably dispels everything of the charms wrought by the exquisite singing; it is 'A little bottle, monsieur!' 'A little wine!' 'A few sous, madam!' 'A few sous for the 'Gondolier;' and then comes the cry of 'Cigars!' 'Fruit, sweet apples!' 'Matches!' etc. Oh Venice, the beautiful, with your palace windows stuffed with rags, and your minstrels begging sous, you are still beautiful. By Jove, you are!"

Kidney Complaint.

Probably there is no complaint that afflicts the human system, which is so little understood at the present time, as some of the varied forms of Kidney Complaints.

There is no disease which causes such acute pain or is more alarming in its results than when the kidneys fail to secrete from the blood the uric acid and other poisonous substances, which the blood accumulates in its circulation through the system.

If from any cause the kidneys fail to perform the functions devolving upon them, the cumulations are taken up by the absorbents and the whole system thrown into a state of disease, causing great pain and suffering, and very often immediate death. Hence the importance of keeping the kidneys and blood in a healthy condition, through which all the impurities of the body must pass.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

There is no remedy known to medical science which has proved itself more valuable in cases of Kidney Complaints than Vegetine. It acts directly upon the secretions, cleanses and purifies the blood, and restores the whole system to healthy action.

The following extraordinary cures of great sufferers who had been given up by the best physicians as hopeless cases, will speak for themselves and should challenge the most profound attention of the medical faculty, as well as of those who are suffering from Kidney Complaint.

THE BEST MEDICINE.

East Marshfield, Aug. 22, 1870.

Mr. Stevens: Dear Sir—I am seventy-one years of age; have suffered many years with Kidney Complaint, weakness in my back and stomach. I was induced by friends to try your Vegetine, and I think it the best medicine for weakness of the Kidneys I ever used. I have tried many remedies for this complaint, and never found so much relief as from the Vegetine. It strengthens and invigorates the whole system. Many of my acquaintances have taken it, and I believe it to be good for all the complaints for which it is recommended.

Yours truly,
JOSIAH H. SHERMAN.

Pronounced Incurable.

Boston, May 30, 1871.

H. R. Stevens, Esq.: Dear Sir—I have been badly afflicted with Kidney Complaint for ten years; have suffered great pain in my back, hips and side, with great difficulty in passing urine, which was often, and in very small quantities, frequently accompanied with blood and excruciating pain.

I have faithfully tried most of the proper remedies recommended for my complaint; I have been under the treatment of some of the most skillful physicians in Boston, all of whom pronounced my case incurable. This was my condition when I was advised by a friend to try the Vegetine, and I could see the good effects from the first dose I took, and from that moment I kept on improving until I was entirely cured, taking in all, I should think, about six bottles.

It is indeed a valuable medicine and if I should be afflicted again in the same way, I would give a dollar a dose, if I could not get it without.

Respectfully,
J. M. GILE.
361 Third Street, South Boston.

NEARLY BLIND.

H. R. Stevens: Dear Sir—In expressing my thanks to you for benefits derived from the use of Vegetine, and to benefit others, I will state;—

When eight or nine years old I was afflicted with Scrofula, which made its appearance in my eyes, face and head, and I was very nearly blind for two years. All kinds of operations were performed on my eyes, and all to no good result. Finally the disease principally settled in my body, limbs and feet, and at times in an aggravated way.

Last Summer I was, from some cause, weak in my spine and kidneys, and it was at times very hard to retain the urine. Seeing your advertisement in the Commercial, I bought a bottle of VEGETINE, and commenced using according to directions. In two or three days I obtained great relief. After using four or five bottles I noticed it had a wonderful effect on the rough, scaly blotches on my body and legs, I still used Vegetine and the humorous sores one after another disappeared until they were all gone, and I attribute the cure of the two diseases to Vegetine, and nothing else.

If I am ever affected with anything of the kind again I shall try Vegetine as the only reliable remedy. Once more accept my thanks, and believe me to be, Very respectfully,
AUSTIN PARROTT.
Dec. 1, 1872. No. 35 Gano St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, etc., are always unpleasant, and at times they become the most distressing and dangerous diseases that can affect the human system. Most diseases of the Kidneys arise from impurities in the blood, causing humors which settle on these parts. Vegetine excels any known remedy in the whole world for cleansing and purifying the blood, thereby causing a healthy action to all the organs of the body.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.

STATEMENT OF MR. G. E. HULL.

This may certify to Dr. Carpenter's success in treating my daughter who had become so deaf from catarrh that we were obliged to speak very loudly to her, to make her hear us. We found that she might become totally deaf, the way she was going on. Dr. C.'s treatment has removed the catarrh and deafness to such an extent, she can now hear a whisper. This case is well known in Jamestown, where we reside.

G. E. HULL.
Newport, April 15th, 1875.

Mr. Arnold's Card.

Dr. Carpenter,—Dear sir: your treatment for chronic catarrh in my case has been successful, although the complaint was of some years standing and had begun to impair my hearing. I think I am perfectly cured and recommend similar sufferers to apply to you. I reside in Jamestown.

F. A. ARNOLD.
Newport, R. I., April 1st, 1875.

Testimony of Captain Hammond of Newport.

W. H. Carpenter, M. D.,—Dear Sir:—Allow me to thank you, through the News and Journal, for the great benefits conferred upon me by your treatment for Chronic Catarrh. Five weeks ago, when I consulted you, I was prostrated and nearly worn out with that terrible disease. Under your treatment I began to improve at once, and in two weeks was able to resume my employment, and have continued to improve up to this time.

Yours Sincerely,
J. F. HAMMOND,

STATEMENT OF MR. RICHARD STAFFORD.

Newport, Jan. 7, 1875.

W. H. Carpenter, M. D.,—Dear Sir:—Having received great benefit from your treatment of my case of deafness and discharges from my ears, I beg to offer you my sincere and heartfelt thanks, hoping at the same time this correspondence may be of use to you professionally. To the public I would say, (if you decide to put this in print,) that as the result of Scarlet Fever, I was troubled for the whole of twenty years with a filthy, disgusting discharge from both ears, which made me grow deafer and deafer, and caused a polypus to grow in one ear, and I received no relief until I applied to Dr. C., for a remedy. I at once placed myself under his care, and through his skillful treatment I have completely recovered from the unpleasant and deplorable condition I was in. My faith in Dr. C's skill is unbounded as I considered my case about incurable before applying to him.

RICHARD STAFFORD, No. 8 Cross street.

CERTIFICATE OF MR. JOHN CASWELL.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 12, 1874.

To the Editor of News:—I wish to recommend Dr. Carpenter's treatment to such of the community as have Scrofula. I inherited it, and it has always run in my blood, and last Fall it became terrible, injuring my health, and attacking my head and face particularly and so disfigured me that a neighbor that met me did not know me until I spoke to him. I applied to Dr. Carpenter, at the Perry House, and his medicines have met with gratifying success. My health is now good, have very little trouble with the humor, face looks natural, and I hope with a little more treatment, to eradicate the poisonous humor from my system entirely. I reside in Middletown.

JOHN CASWELL.

Catarrh and Polypus.

Home Testimony.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 6th, 1874.

This is to proclaim what Dr. Carpenter has done for me. I suffered from Catarrh 40 years, and the last 10 years my nasal passages were filled with Polypus. I employed physicians from time to time, and two years ago, went to Boston, and was doctored there three months, and left off worse than I began, and I was almost discouraged. But I felt that I must do something, for I was obliged to keep my mouth open and my health was becoming impaired. So I went to Fall River last Spring, and placed myself under the care of Dr. Carpenter. His treatment proved highly satisfactory. He removed and cured the Polypus, I can breathe naturally, the Catarrh troubles me very little and altogether I am comfortable and as well as a man 60 years of age, can expect to be, and I hope this testimony may be the means of securing relief to other sufferers. I reside in Middletown.

ASA PECKHAM.

Permanent Cures to Scrofulous Catarrh.

Testimony of a Citizen of Newport.

My son and daughter were sufferers from Scrofulous Catarrh from birth, and with discharges, swellings upon their necks; and an utter inability to breathe through the nose, they were uncomfortable enough, when we placed them under the care of Dr. Carpenter in 1865. His remedies cured them in a few months and they remain well to this day. I publish this with the hope it may be the means of securing relief to others.

A CARD FROM

Mr. John Beattie Jr.

(From Fall River News.)

Fall River, Jan. 22, 1874.

W. H. Carpenter, M. D.,—My Dear Sir:—Allow me thus publicly to express my gratitude for the great benefit conferred upon me by your treatment. I was afflicted for years with Catarrh which had become a constant torment to me, the irritation and inflammation having increased until ulceration was the consequence. Your treatment has been attended with the happiest results. I am now comfortable, my head feels well, and I believe myself cured of that terrible disease.

JOHN BEATTIE, Jr.

Mr. Beattie is of the well-known Firm of Wm. & J. Beattie, Jr., Granite Dealers and Contractors, 2 Quarry street.

A CARD FROM WALTER SCOTT, Esq.,

EDITOR OF BORDER CITY HERALD, OF FALL RIVER.

I have known Dr. Carpenter since he commenced practice in this city, and I am satisfied that he is a skillful physician and has been successful in the treatment of a great majority of the cases in which he has been consulted. Of my own personal knowledge, I have reason to testify that quite a number of the individuals cured were nearly hopeless in their condition; some about blind, others deaf, and others laboring under Bronchial and Catarrhal affections, and I have seen the same persons restored under his treatment to their normal state of health. I therefore, knowing these things, without hesitation recommend him to persons suffering from the maladies he has made his special study for years.

WALTER SCOTT.

Catarrh and Blindness.

(From Fall River News.)

Testimony of Mrs. J. Clomb, of Fall River.

I was diseased with an aggravated form of Catarrh ten years, and in consequence my eyes became affected in December last, and grew worse until I could not go about without being led. Was under the care of several doctors and at the Boston Infirmary, but got no help until I consulted Dr. Carpenter at the Mount Hope House, April 2d. Under his treatment I began to improve immediately, and now I consider myself cured. I think everyone should know there is a physician in Fall River who can cure such diseases. As I am not very well known in this city, I am at liberty to refer to W. Scott, Esq., No. 1 Perry street, who saw me when I was sick of Blindness and since I was cured.

One agent writes under date of June 4th: "We now have orders for every machine we have, and before another week ends we will not have a single machine; we need a carload every two weeks, and by the 1st of September shall want at least 1,000 a month; we have very cheering letters from our sub-agents, every mail bringing us large orders &c."

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks or Designs,

No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St., Boston.

AFTER AN EXTENSIVE PRACTICE of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
